

Respecting the Path of Others

Mushiba: I believe that respect and love are the two foundational legs on which we learn our lessons and advance in our growth. We may believe, however, that certain people deserve no respect and love because their behaviors and attitude go against what we hold as our truth. However, as Waith said during his classes in the Search for Self ~ First Level:

Waith: "Respect and love all that surround you and you will then receive back respect and love."

I believe it is important (as well as a good lesson) to respect and love an energy because it is part of The One and thus, has a path to follow, as well as lessons to learn. However, we do not necessarily have to condone ~ or like ~ the manifestation of that path through the behaviors and attitudes of the energy form. This is truly a challenge!
