

Hidden Soul Memories

Mushiba: What is a Soul memory and the frenzy from some about having that information? A Soul memory is an imprint of a past experience, whether it is for this current life or a past life. The Soul memory is another tool available for us as we walk our path toward Oneness with The Universal Consciousness.

Is connecting to a Soul memory a good thing then? I think it depends ~ on our need to know, our readiness to know and, of course, our curiosity. Of what benefit will it be for our current journey to know about something that happened in the past, especially a past life?

Waith guides us that a reason for Soul Memories to be Hidden from Concrete Self is because we can be overwhelmed by too much information, much of which is superfluous for our current journey.

Waith has counseled: “One of the interesting aspects of the earth plane is that much of the Soul Memory is Hidden. For most who come onto the earth plane, it is a necessity to hide ~ or not remember ~ other experiences for it would interfere with the lessons that need to be learned. It is enough for what they are going through in the current life not to have remembrances of past experiences. However, you will reach a point in your growth where you can recognize that you can handle that information from Soul in a dual way ~ meaning, being earthbound and yet having awareness of many other dimensions, flashes of memory from incarnations in other dimensions.”

Waith continually reminds us to trust Self to receive the information we need ~ when and where we need it. Soooo, what Soul memories do I want to come to the forefront? Well, what did I look like during that life in Atlantis? How tall was I? What gender was I? What was my name? What was my role? Oh, wait, I need to know this for what reason...
