Waith Energizes And Address Individual Crystals From The Group

It is that session that you all so look forward to in which we will energize those entities from The Mineral Kingdom and discuss perhaps their relationship to you. Joining us this particular session, to be of assistance, is one from The Company who you have not seen for some time, and will, when appropriate, give her response to certain crystals. And thus, she will come in now and speak with you briefly.

A Visit From Farena

Farena: Hello. It is wonderful to be here with all of you. And Waith has told me that I may take the first crystal, and it is to come from the energy here at the left side here. Ah, yes. This is so exciting for me to be doing this. I so want to do it correctly now.

This is a crystal that came from a time when you first were on the earth plane. It was given to you by an entity from the Angelic who was currently, at that time, incarnated and is back in The Angelic Realm. And it was this Angelic's responsibility to help you to move through that first incarnation. And this was programmed. It is different now in form than it was before, but it is now very advanced, for it has been with you in, oh, ninety percent of your incarnations, and is with you in this one because you now go through an illusion change. And you would be happy to keep it with a crystal that has a greenish translucence to it. It is now in your environment. Place them together.

Waith: That was very good, Farena. 😊

She has been practicing very well.

Waith: Yes, and she will return. We now will go with our usual way in which you can all look around at each other, and wonder who is going to go next. 😊

(A crystal is handed to Waith)

This is what is many times referred to as a pixy crystal. It is pixy on the earth plane vernacular, meaning diminutive and cute. It is to bring out in your energy that quality that aids you in Being of Service to Others who respond to the quality that it represents. It is encased, however, in an inappropriate surrounding, my love. It needs to have that which is referred to as zinc as an encasement and would be best served if worn around that which is called the wrist.

(Someone hands Waith a crystal and loses her balance when sitting back down)

We saw your Light fumble. ☺ We have awakened a particular dormant aspect of this crystal, my love, that is to help you now in the responsibilities that you have agreed to take on where the editing of the material that we bring in is concerned. You would place this particular energy form each time you go into the sleep state under your pillow, as you would call it, and receive from this certain knowledge at the Higher Self Level that will transfuse itself into the conscious.

(She hands Waith a second crystal)

This crystal would be best utilized encased in that which is referred to as silver and worn at the level of that which is the thyroid in the encasement around the neck as a chain. It will assist in certain health situations that you find yourself now in.

Most beautiful energy, most appropriate in its, as you would call, setting. It comes from a time of an incarnation in which you were what is called now a witch, but of course, the connotation to that is perceived differently, of course, by many. And you were simply of the Light, utilizing in that incarnation certain abilities that, as now with many of you, called psychic abilities. You were able to see certain, what we might call, auras and, of course, this frightened many people. And you were just for the first time on the plane using this, and you were so excited by all of this that you thought everyone had this, and you went about the area going up to people and saying to them, reading their aura, and this disturbed a good many people. And because of your excitement and enthusiasm about this, it was misinterpreted and misunderstood, and you were burned to death.

However, this crystal went with you. It was in another encasement, but it took with it the consciousness of that particular incarnation, and is with you now, as it has been in other incarnations since that time, but is with you in this particular incarnation to help you as you develop certain abilities to temper those abilities and to understand that you must use those abilities in a spiritual context, and that you do not immediately go out onto the rooftop and shout the knowledge, for there would be many who would not understand. And thus, it will give you that type of guidance.

(Another hands Waith crystals) I have three that I wear as a single entity.

This is a crystal that has an energy to assist you in contemplation. It is not necessarily to be used during meditation, but rather during a time when you are not in a deep meditative state, but rather a contemplative state. And the touching of the longer crystal with the thumb of your right hand will provide an energy that will assist you in those contemplations that you find yourself in.

(Another crystal is given to Waith)

Vibrating now, this crystal, vibrating ~ very strong energy. It has absorbed the energy that was presented upon the arrival of us in The Company. It is for the first time receiving this type of energy and it is most excited. What it now is able to do ~ for crystals have as part of their mission, the task, the role, the position of absorbing energy to assist and Be of Service to those who it would find itself with. It now will assist you in receiving an energy in your meditations that has come from us that will give you a certain strength for certain decisions that you now find yourself having to make.

Farena Comes In And Addresses Someone In The Group With Their Crystal

Farena: I have been with you recently. And now, I am allowed to place an energy into this from me to you.

Thank you. Is this appropriate to wear?

Farena: It would be more appropriate to place into that ~ in a pocket.

All right, and this one is one I am wondering if it would be appropriate with my friend who's been staying with me for the weekend, the one I have been helping, if that would be helpful to her. I think it is her vibrational colors.

Farena: We have placed an energy into it that is waiting now to be completed by an energy that you will place into it. Go into the meditative state upon departure from this session and hold it and call upon me, and we will complete the energy.

Thank you very much.

Waith: She is quite cute. (Referring to Farena) ☺ We will be giving the others in The Company the same opportunity at other sessions. Farena won the draw of this straw, as you might say, to be the one to do it for this time.

(Another hands a crystal to Waith)

This energy is very strong. It is a very powerful energy and it is what you would call a transmitter, which means that it sends out a signal to the Higher Self of an entity who is seeking direction, seeking to find information to help them along their path, to whatever that information might be, whatever that path might be. It is symbolic that you would have a figure on this that is actually indicative of protection. This is to be placed with you when you are in your place of work, but you must be careful at leaving it there unattended. Bring it with you and take it back with you and leave it in an elevated position in the back part of that location.

(Another crystal is handed to Waith) This is not a crystal but I have been wanting to know what it is.

It is an energy form, of course. Contrary to what you would think that it is not a crystal, it is from The Mineral Kingdom. It has taken on an encasement in duality in that it is separate, yet one. It has a function of learning in this particular encasement. You simply are in the position of caretaker.

(Another gives a crystal to Waith)

We have given this an energy that will assist you in the turbulence that you find yourself in.

Thank you. Is it going to slow down?

Those who seek accelerated growth do indeed get it. We have awaited the return of the energy into the vibration. This crystal is one in which you have been served by for many, many incarnations. You have been a part of the Spiritual Warrior Community that Mushiba and Abalma have had throughout millennia on the earth plane. You have been a very strong part of it. This crystal has been your ~ we would say companion, but that would not truly give its role to you. It has been your strength ~ it has been your guidance. It is a most powerful energy. You are about to finish your time on the earth plane and take your place with Mushiba and Abalma at certain levels in the running of the Universal Kingdom that is now Amelius', soon to be turned over. This is your very strong power.

The last time you talked to me about that, you said I have to make some decisions, which I did. My question is, is it now time for me to give, pass this along to somebody else?

You know the answer to that. But we will confirm that it is appropriate now, for it has served you well, and you it, and now it is time to allow it to Be of Service to Another who has the same situation. Do not just arbitrarily give it away. Wait and The Universe will present it to you. And give it to that entity with the understanding that once it has Been of Service to them that they, too, would pass this crystal along to another with the same condition.

(Another crystal is handed to Waith)

This is energized now. It would be beneficial to have this placed into a setting that is of copper, that you would wear around your neck and that would find itself near the heart Chakra.

(Another hands Waith a crystal)

This crystal is in what is called a transition state currently, needing to have a bit of rest before it goes on to its next phase of its mission. We would advise that you, for the short term, place this in white soft material, cover it completely and allow it to rest, perhaps for the duration of that which is called the summer season on the plane. At the completion of that cycle of summer, remove it from the white and return here with it.

(Another crystal is handed to Waith)

This crystal comes to you from your twin flame. Your twin flame is currently in another dimension, is not on the earth plane, but sent this to you. It was presented to you through another that was in contact at spirit level with your twin flame, for you and your twin have not been together for many, many, many incarnations, each doing what needs to be done, and this is simply an energy now from your twin. And we are, what you might say, activating it a little bit so that you will be able to receive the energy from this that is from your twin flame.

(Another crystal is given to Waith)

This is a beacon. You would ask any of the members of the Terra Lux Community what beacon means.

(Another crystal is handed to Waith)

This comes from many, many times on the earth plane with you. As many of you already know, crystals incarnate in different encasements, as all of you do, and follow you around from lifetime to lifetime, many of them. This one has been with you through the lifetimes in which you were faced with the issues of tolerance and understanding, when you took on those particular issues with tremendous zeal. Other lifetimes, you would take on other issues. It has a memory in its consciousness of what you have learned in those two areas and connects with your own soul memories of what you have learned in those two areas, and now assists you as you once again work through those particular issues. It is a most beautiful energy form.

(Another crystal is given to Waith)

This is to be buried. This is to be buried in the new abode in which you find yourself going. And you would want to bury it to the northwest. You would place it 1.2 yards from the corner, 3.4 inches into the ground. I may not be very good with time, but I am with direction.

(Someone gives Waith a second crystal)

It is energized and it receives a special energy from The Angelics, and there will be a time in which we will discuss personally with you what we meant by that.

(Another crystal is given to Waith)

You, too, of course have been part of The Warrior Community from times past. This energy currently with you had an encasement in a time past that served as you might call ~ oh, it called out to the vibrations in the area. It was very big. It was tall. It was shiny, and it served as, much as you would call a ~ the only thing I can come up with in this vocabulary is town crier. ☺ No. It is ~ many times as you know, it is so difficult to translate into the limited communication device that is on the plane, that which is the concept in The Universe. But, in any event ~ and it is not Mushiba's fault, you see. Even though she continually adds words to the vocabulary so that we have more words to use, it still presents a difficulty.

We are trying to perhaps describe what this function was. It was very, very tall, and it reached out and gave a signal to the surrounding area that these spiritual warriors were in town, you see, and could be called upon for assistance, for protection. And it would signal to you when an entity was approaching who needed protection, and it signaled when an entity was approaching who needed to be protected who may have had ill thoughts, shall we say. And you were the guardian, as it was the guardian of the community, the spiritual community, during the time this past. It serves you in this incarnation as a memory for you to draw upon when you are called upon as a spiritual warrior. Connect with it now for its energies have been stimulated and reawakened for your assistance.

(Another hands Waith a crystal) I thought it was time to return this.

This is now time to go specifically to Mushiba and Abalma for them to keep in the environment that they find themselves with the business.

(A couple of crystals are handed to Waith) (Waith indicates the left) And we take the other in the right ~ for they are connected. They renew energies now with the guidance of us, and they assist you in the culmination of the physical problems, as you would call it, and will keep you on the right path in that sense. When that particular issue has been completed, return them. They are connected vibrationally now and need not be in proximity with each other at all times, you see. When they are, it is nice for them, for they enjoy each other's vibration.

(Another crystal is handed to Waith)

This is an energy that has returned from the time of Atlantis in the final time as it was being destroyed. It has been in The Underground Community being nurtured and was allowed above ground to return to you for energies that you will find renewing. It will take now, what you would call one year on the earth plane for it to revive its energies in connection with you, and it speaks of a time that is very similar to that which is now playing out itself in this time frame. From this moment now that we return this to you, keep this separate from other energies of The Mineral Kingdom for one year and then return it to us and we will give it more energy.

Another crystal is handed to Waith)

This one is now ready to be returned back to The Underground Community from which it came. The most appropriate place is here at where Mushiba lives and that location where the tree was, for that was a portal to the underground. It still is, and all you need to do is to bury this. We would not say at high noon or full moon or any those moons. At any time is appropriate, and it is appropriate for this to be buried approximately three to four inches below the ground surface, you see. No more than four inches, no less than three. And as you are burying it, say to The Underground that it is coming, and thank the energy for its assistance, for it has helped you in ways that will become clear in a short time.

We could not find the stones we put in our garden from last year. Did The Underground take them?

You must understand you run the risk of The Underground coming up ~ finding vibrant crystals.

Can I ask you to energize one ring for me since I only had one of the two? Can you tell me about the shape of its significance, or is it going to help me release a memory?

This significance of its shape is related to the energies on the path and its reasons for taking on a particular shape which is not information to be known by anyone except the energy itself. It will, however, Be of Service to you, as all crystals are to be. It will assist you in issues relating to that who is your son.

A Reminder From Waith ~ No One Is Ever Alone ~ Always Call Upon Help When Needed

I wanted to thank you for help that helped with co-workers and myself. I felt we were not alone.

You are never alone, any of you. You are never alone. You may at times think you are alone but we are always here, we and all of The Angelics, your guides, whoever they may be, are always with you. You need only call upon them. So often you do not do that, for you become so engrossed in the illusion that you forget that you are not alone, you think that you have to do this all by yourself, and while that may be the particular phase of the lesson that you find yourself in at earth plane, at spirit, we are always there. You are never ever alone.

Waith Projects Images Of Himself

My friend asked me to ask this question. She was here a couple of weeks ago for her first session, and she saw a man standing next to you that had white hair and a long beard. She was frightened and embarrassed and thought that group members might make fun of her since it was her first time for seeing this entity. She asked to find out the identity of this entity, or the relationship to what the entity was doing next to you.

It was simply a projection of Self. In the time in Atlantis when I was incarnated with Mushiba, this is what I looked like, and I was simply doing a little, shall we say, staging for her benefit, for many of you have in some state, in the dream state or the meditative state, seen the same image.

Yes, I have in my dreams.

It is me. ☺

That is why I went on my spiritual path in the first place. I saw this dream of you.

She is not to be embarrassed.

She said she is embarrassed or frightened of coming back because of this.

It was necessary that she see this for very specific reasons and you will understand it further as we communicate with her.
