A Question Concerning Kingdoms, Logos, Rays And Color Associated With It

I have a question concerning kingdoms and logos and rays. Are all of these the same? What is the ray of Amelius? Does that have a color associated with it, and how does that equate to Logos?

They all essentially are the same, my son. As we have indicated so often, when a question is directed to us using a specific earth plane term, we often pause to search the frame of reference, for each of the energy groupings that make up The Flow of The Universe use, in their transmission through the dimensions, different words, different vocabulary, all having, of course, the end meaning, which is the same. Thus, the reason for, in many cases, a sense of confusion.

When we, for example, make reference to the five kingdoms, it is the same concept as what you hear and refer to as the rays. There is much that we have not given, nor has been given from other sources at spirit level, describing what you might call the hierarchy of The Universe, for it is not necessary for that specific information to be on the plane, for it would only create an attention on form rather than on process, as you would call it.

When you refer to color, we, again, come into this arena of definition and perception, for color is an energy, is a vibration that, from our end, has no substance, as you will. It is all simply energy. As it comes onto the earth plane dimension, it takes on a form. And, once again, there is oftentimes a great deal of attention given to the form rather than what it represents. Thus, in our coming time frame on the earth plane of this year, as it is referred to, we will be attempting to smooth out in certain areas the issues on the earth plane that relate to identification with form, and working with color and sound, for example, in form that will best translate then into the vibrational aspect of what that form actually means.

It is always best, my son, when you have a confusion in terms or definition, as you were presenting in your question, that you ask for clarification, for as we continue to emphasize, you will receive information from many, many, many sources, and it is your responsibility to then synthesize that information and apply it to that which feels comfortable for Self, and oftentimes, this means, however, seeking out those on the plane, and also those not on the plane, who could guide you in determining where the process or the concept fits within the restrictions of that which is form.

Of what ray is Amelius?

It is not important for that information to be discussed, for he is one of five who has the responsibilities of a kingdom, and ray and kingdom are the same. And, again, to put emphasis on which one he is from serves no real, or significant, purpose. It is only that he, along with four other counterparts, if you will, are charged with the orderly Flow of The Universal Consciousness's path in creating illusion.

Is the information presented by the Theosophical Society concerning kingdoms and rays essentially correct?

We find that they have valid information. It is for their audience, those who would need the information that comes from them. It is valid information. They, in their information processing, as you might call it, do not come from the kingdom in which Amelius has responsibility. They are from one of the other four.

We Have Five Kingdoms Operating At This Time. Will That Change After The Shift?

That will become known as The New Illusion unfolds. We must attend to the loose ends of the current illusion, and understand that with each illusion ~ major illusion change, comes significant switches, if you will, in energy transmission and flow of energy, and organization of energy.

Changes To The Human Form In The New Illusion

You said the human form will change in the new illusion. Does that mean that those who stay will have some change take place or just the new entities coming in?

Both. There are changes occurring now as you all are gathered here, within your vibrational field. Those who have already made the commitment to remain after The Shift and into The New Illusion are having the beginnings of change of physical nature beginning from the inside and working its way out. This will be reflected, then, when the new energies begin to enter in through those energies who have chosen to remain to, shall we say, start up The New Illusion. There will be some rather apparent and obvious changes occurring in form, and in many cases there will be no apparent or visible change.

As many of you have already experienced, and will continue to experience, you have vibrational changes. You feel a recentralizing effect of your own energies within your electromagnetic field, and during certain changes related to the earth and its electromagnetic field, periodically, you will feel major changes within your own physical encasement. That which is occurring in the vibrational area you find yourself now, being one of the so called safe zones, that which is occurring as we are in now speaking with you, is one such significant vibrational shifting that the earth itself is feeling. And many of you will feel, some to a greater degree than others, a response to that which the earth is feeling and its energy field.

The Planet Atlantis Is An Energy Planet Without A Physical Body. Correct?

That is correct, as you would call physical. A difference.

I remember reading one time that there is a mathematical balance in our solar system between the planets, that there is a formula which shows the relationship of the distances between the planets in our solar system, and according to it, there was a space where another planet should be. Was that by any chance the Planet Atlantis?

The theory that you present is most accurate, and as is always the case in earth plane experiences, the attempts to interpret and apply, or, as we would say, give form to the concept, gets muddled, shall we say. All energy is, if you want to use this terminology, mathematically correct. It simply means that there are many, many, many, many training grounds that are a part of earth plane, knowing that Planet Earth is only one, and one very accelerated component of that which is the earth plane.

We, on occasion in our responses, will give you a reference of earth plane without indicating Planet Earth, as opposed to another training ground. All of the so called planets that have been made visible by illusion to your scientists on Planet Earth are a part of the earth plane. There are many others that are of a vibrational correctness that serve purposes at a vibrational level that do not need to have at this time explanation given, for they relate to the Twelve Major Structures that you know as pyramids. The space that you refer to, that this speculation of another planet that is going to suddenly appear, or that is there that is not being seen, is a typical Planet Earth scientific manifestation.

If our other scientist member were here tonight, there would be quite an interesting discussion going on, and I anticipate that will come at some time soon. We enjoy those discussions, melding the scientific with that which is not. So, we have left you more confused than ever?

No, that is fine. ☺ I thought a planet blew up and it did not. So ~

Vibrationally, there is no hole. It is only Planet Earth's scientists' illusion that there is.

How Can I Best Work With The Event Known As Eleven/Eleven (January 11 At 11:00 A.M.)

The frame of reference to which you give this form is the concept that presents itself at the time of major illusion changes, in that Energy Centers begin to be opened up and closed and some are changed, so three different scenarios occur within the flow of the energy. And what has begun and has been occurring for some time now on Planet Earth, is the transference of energy and also information from the twelve pyramid shapes into the twelve new vibrational areas in which the new structures will be constructed. Those who are charged with the responsibilities of constructing the new structures, and those twelve geographic areas, know who they are. This area you find yourself in now is one of the twelve and is currently receiving major energy transferences from its pyramid counterpart.

This phenomena that is given the definition of eleven/eleven, and it could be called anything, it could be called twelve/twelve, it could be called two/two, it could be called tiny toon, it could be called anything. ☺ It is the concept that is important and the working with the energy, for this is a ~ an opening up of a new Energy Center, and it is coming through from one of the other kingdoms. All five of the kingdoms are involved in this illusion. It is not just an illusion change from Amelius and his kingdom. It is all five, and they all work harmoniously together, and exchange information and exchange helpers also. There is no division here.

As is the case with all that occurs, those who have chosen, or agreed, to work with particular energy changes will know and simply will begin to do so. It will begin at a spirit level, and as the consciousness of Self begins to expand with the working of the new energy, so too, will the awareness levels begin to seek and merge within Self. So that the best response to your question at an individual level is that you will know through your meditations and through opportunities presented to you how, and in what way, you will work with the new energy coming through from higher sources. It is all connected with the Twelve Major Structures and their connection to each other at the instantaneous moment of transference into The New Illusion.

Questions And Discussion About What Is Considered Safe Zones Versus Unsafe Areas

You mentioned two things in reference to that. You said that we are in a safe area, and later you said that we are in one of the twelve receiving areas of energy, which creates the impression for me of being able to travel to an unsafe area, which I would not want to do. Is it possible to clarify that? Should I stay on Pearl Street in Enfield to be safe, or will I know when I have gone a distance, or is it a physical distance that will be the difference? How would you answer that fear?

Well, considering the activities that occur on Pearl Street at various times, ☺ we would not really want to say safe. When we look at safety zones, we are referring to vibrational correctness for The New Illusion. There is much confusion and misunderstanding which may or may not be cleared up by the time the illusion comes. There are some who will never understand it, and we will not try to clarify that.

However, the best approach to it is that if you are committed to staying after The Shifting and into The New Illusion, and if you are vibrationally correct with the earth's new vibration, regardless of where you are geographically, you will be safe. Safe zone refers to those geographic areas that will remain as part of The New Illusion, and those that, therefore, are called unsafe are simply those that will not be a part of The New Illusion. You are seeing already shiftings of geographic area. That which was is no longer and suddenly there is something new geographically.

You would not have any fear, my son, in mobility, for those energies, for example, who are not vibrationally attuned for the new earth's vibration, even if they are geographically situated in a safe zone, will be required to leave. You see? Do you understand?

That sounds ominous.

It is not ominous. We would ask you why it sounds ominous.

Blocks created by previous fantasies that imply the second coming, or apocalypse, or any other change, would be probably a negative one, and wanting to be able to transcend that. But when you say safe, that implies there is an unsafe, and I cannot think of a positive way to clarify that without asking.

Understand that each form, and in this case the definition of words, have opposites. So, to say safe does indeed imply unsafe, does it not? And if one were to use the frame of reference that you have just described, it is easily understood your perception of, as we perceive the definition of ominous, to be underscored and felt so strongly. The idea of what you call a second coming has been the result of the predictable misinterpretation over time of information that has come through from spirit, and that this is also another reason why cleansings, as we call them, or illusion changes, occur on a regular basis on the plane in an attempt to sort of get rid of some of those perceptions or stereotypes, as you would call them, that you cannot shake, or the blockings that you feel.

For those who are not vibrationally attuned with the new vibration of the planet is not a negative by any means. It is simply that, in their own path of development, their vibrational level requires that they go to another training ground to increase their vibration before they can return back to the training ground of the earth plane, for the earth plane is a highly accelerated training ground, and oftentimes, recess must occur for energies. That means that they go out and play until they feel revived and ready to take on the earth plane again.

It is all a most positive situation as we work with it from our end, for it means that the opportunities are given to those energies who feel blocked, who feel that they are not able to really progress on their path in the current vibration in which they find themselves, and that a reprieve will assist them and prepare them to return back to the earth plane at a vibrational level that is appropriate. For those who are vibrationally attuned to the earth plane, they have no recess. They must go right through lunch break actually, and accelerated learning occurs. It is not a situation of privilege versus those who are not privileged. There is no standard here of an energy being better than another, for they stay after The Shifting. This, of course, is unavoidable from our end to be interrupted by those on the earth plane that they would perceive themselves to be better than another. And that brings up additional issues which we could continue for quite some time, and I know my timekeeper is not giving me a specific time, but in feeling her energies, know that she is beginning to say, "Wrap it up, Waith." 😊

Does that answer, partially at least, your concern, my son? We will continue to give clarification, and again, as your own sense of Self through your meditations merges with conscious Self, there may be a more relaxed feeling about that which is occurring now.

Why Does Anyone Leave The One, Just To Go Back To The One?

Last month you gave a discussion of why souls and entities leave The One and go on their path, or how they do it with different levels of enthusiasm. Why does anyone do that? What does the past entail, and what was the benefit of it, if we are just going back to The One?

We get bored. It really is as simple as that. There would be many, and it is dependent upon the level of your understanding and awarenesses, that would try to place some very heavy philosophic underpinnings to what this is all about. And there really is not. We have a responsibility from our end to play out the role that we have taken, for all have a role, and that is given, that each has come out of The One, that we have our jobs to do, and so, at times, we present to you a seriousness and diligence, as if all of this mattered, and then, of course, we are on record as indicating that it all does not matter. And thus, we give further complexity to an issue that is quite simple.

Being in The One is very boring, and being in The One is not being in The Universal Consciousness. The Universal Consciousness is an illusion that was created by The One. There is nothing, you see. There ~ energy is an encasement. Energy is an illusion, and thus, we would have nothing to do. We would all just be hanging out there getting on each other's nerves. ☺ This way we can give form to that ~ (Words inaudible due to laughter) get on each other's nerves.

What Happens If We Stray From The Path That We Has Planned With Our Guides Before Entry

You said before that before we come into a new incarnation, we plan our growth out with our guides. If something were to happen where we get caught up in the illusion and we go away from the plan, would the Angelic guide do something to get us on path, or would the Soul in cooperation with the Angelic guide do this?

The answer to that can be yes, yes, no, no, maybe, maybe. There is no clear-cut response to that, for it will depend on many other factors. When an energy begins to lose sight of its path on the earth plane, that in itself may be necessary as a lesson to be learned, and the Angelic would not interfere, nor would the guides interfere or even attempt to give guidance, for it may be necessary and may indeed have been discussed before entry that there was a high probability that within the illusion of the Planet Earth, there would be a straying from the path.

It is so easy to become caught up in the illusion, and if this happens, it happens. It does not in the ultimate end cause damage. The ultimate end is that, eventually, you return to The One. It may take you an untold amount of time versus another to do it. However, that does not matter, for once you get back in The One, you are going to jump right back out again anyway. So. it is simply, not to place it in a frivolous manner, the response that we give is that it is situational. and not for an energy to become obsessed with following the path, for you may feel that you have the path. but indeed you have not, and perhaps by your perception of not following the path and going into another direction, that is in fact your real direction. Put another little glitch into the old formula, did not we? ☺

That is why, dear loved ones, it is so critical to connect with the Higher Self, to receive the answers from Self. We serve only as facilitators to give you information about what exists, and many variations on the theme, as you might say, as our dear one's question has presented, and as each of your questions have in some way presented variations on the theme. It would be far too easy for all of us who give information from higher sources to get the definitions correct. We all give you a standardized format, if you will. That would take all the fun out of it. Thus, we serve as teachers, and teachers have their own styles of teaching and accommodate the learning styles of those who fall under their teaching responsibility, and as students, you are free to choose your teachers.
