Waith Opens This Public Session To Personal Questions

Now, many of you have in the past gone to great lengths to disguise your questions so that they took on the appearance of a question of Universal concern when, in actuality, you wanted some personal answers. And we will simply allow this to flow without placing any limitations as one per person, or that type of thing. We will be cautious, however, in responding to something that would either be too personal, as we would perceive it, or which might embarrass in the general public, knowing that these questions go onto the official record.

I Want To Channel. When Will This Happen For Me?

Well, you know, my love, this thing called channelling is not all it is cracked up to be. That is the light side of it. The serious side is that there is a tremendous responsibility that goes with channelling, as you call it, from both ends, from the channeller and the channellee.

And we, in coming through Mushiba, have certain obligations that we have agreed upon with her, and she with us. There is a mutual contract that was agreed upon way before we went public. And any amount of channelling, or the bringing through of information from another source, that you would do, requires that you have an understanding with that source, be it a source from outside of Self or a source that is the Self, such as the Higher Self. At conscious level, if you would bring in an entity from outside of Self, there needs to be very definitive agreements made. And you, my love, are in the process now of deciding whether you want to take on that type of commitment.

For you, a channelling, or bringing in information, is not a parlor game, and there are many who look at this phenomenon as a parlor game, and they attempt to do it, and that is fine. It is part of their lessons to be learned that they would take into future incarnations where they would look at it more seriously. You, however, have already done that in other times, in other lives, where you are now at the point of making the commitment, and you have not determined whether you are ready to make that commitment in this lifetime.

It may be that you will determine that this lifetime is meant to develop strength more, for bringing in information from another source other than that which is at the current illusion, bears a great responsibility. And you, at this time in your incarnation, are uncertain whether your family ~ that grouping that you have taken on ~ would be as comfortable with this as you are, and you have considerations such as that. We will say to you that you are ready in all of the levels that are required for the seriousness aspect. You simply have not determined yet whether you are ready.

A Job Situation And Knowing When It Is Time To Let Go And Move On

Did I achieve a breakthrough after this weekend?

Well, you know, there has been a lightening of the energy, and we would respond that, as you would perceive breakthrough, yes, there has been, and that the issues that we have discussed with you in private still weigh heavily upon your energy field, but you are now not resisting as you did. And you feel now a change in your connectedness with several new vibrations, as well as several vibrations that you have been interconnecting with for some time now. So, yes.

Am I approaching this job thing in the right way?

You know, we will not want to go into discussions of job at this particular time. You would want to flow just ever so slightly more. Yes.

I hope what you just said about jobs would just be that instance. I wonder if my path, my job right now, is hindering my spiritual growth. Am I approaching my service at the job in the correct way? Or is it hindering in terms of spiritual?

Nothing hinders any of us unless we allow it to. Every opportunity is presented as a means of growth and strengthening, and that any activity that you find yourself in has been meant to occur, for you have brought yourself into that situation. Now, the difficulty comes in this fine line that we have spoken of so often, you know, when are you ready to let go of something. And this comes as an answer only from Self, in knowing this. We would indicate, however, to you that it is not hindering your growth and your path as yet, for there is work that you need to do, not only in learning, but also in teaching with those entities with whom you find yourself associating.

The time draws near for closure to this particular activity. And growth ceases for a soul when they know that it is time to let go, and they do not, you see. There is no harm in continuing to hold onto something if you have not figured out yet that it is time to let go. Once it clicks that it is time to let go ~ others can say to you, we could say to you, "It is time to let go, my son," and you do not believe it yet, and therefore, it is not time to let go. Once you have said, and this is for each of you, once you have said, "It is time to let go," but you do not let go, your growth ceases at that point and you come to a standstill and in some cases could then begin to backslide a bit.

Should I be reaching out more forcefully, for want of a better word, with the people around me as far as teaching and talking?

You would do as you do now, not to be forceful. It is not a situation in which one would be forceful. Your energy, dear one, is not oriented toward force. It would go against that which is your gentle nature. So, simply allow to continue as you are.

About Stagnating And Not Letting It Go. Is There No Growth In Just Staying Where You Are?

Well, that is a very good question, for there is growth in everything, even in nongrowth. Eventually, ultimately, for eventually and ultimately, all energy must return to The One. It may take eternity, but who is counting? And what occurs, then, is if an energy stagnates and finds themselves not growing, that they would reflect upon that at some level in their soul and in conjunction with their guides and their Angelic Protector, and that eventually, ultimately, there is growth from the nongrowth.

And thus, there is no negative that occurs. It is simply, as best as can be described, a moment in time in which there is stillness. The energy is still. It does not move forward. It does not move backward. It stands still, at which point there can be either movement forward or movement backward. Nonetheless, there is movement.

Waith's Difficulties In Talking Of Time Frames When Asked Of Events Which Might Occur

Does it look like for this calendar year that Connecticut will have the heavy earthquake that is predicted?

Oh, we would want very much to give you a time frame, my love. As we have ~ as much as we have assimilated into time on the earth plane, it is still a difficult call, if you will, for we see from an energy perspective what we say as imminent. However, to say to you in this what you call calendar year that it will happen, we would not do justice to our position of teacher by saying yes or no to that.

It is going to occur. That is perhaps the more important response, that this geographic area that is south of the safe zone for Terra Lux will have, as part of its cleansing, an earthquake. And when we say it is imminent, that is as best as we can describe it in terms of time. We have tried so often to do time, and we fail miserably, and then people say, "You told us it was going to happen at such and such a time, and it did not." It is going to happen, however. And the cleansings now throughout the planet become more and more obvious, even to those who would not want to see. It becomes more and more obvious that this is not just something that is a fluke that is occurring, that this is all part of an energy cleaning itself from illness. So, it is possible. It is quite possible. Imminent is so close, so very close.

I Received A Magazine In The Mail Called The Light Sound. Is This Of The Light?

The Light Sound. We must reference this. You know, this is not as easy as you all think, that you can ask The Spook who can see from on high into the depths of the earth plane. We have this Web Effect we have described so often to you, trying to find the web. The Light Sound. The Light Sound.

It was mailed from Arizona but it is originally from Hawaii. It talks about the fifth dimension, and the third dimension, and the fourth dimension, and ~

We are not able from the information you give us ~ oh, you know, definition given to concepts vary on the earth plane. We would perhaps ~ is there a larger grouping name that this comes from that we would be able to perhaps reference? It would appear that it is of a minor import, if we are not able to reference it. We would give this to Jenjura.

Indeed. Jenjura has just informed me that the grouping that this particular magazine, as you call it, is of the Light. They come from, however, one of the other kingdoms. This was why there was difficulty in my gaining reference to it. It is not from The Kingdom of Amelius. It is from one of the other four kingdoms, which simply means that we do not have jurisdiction over it, as you would call it. It is information that is valid and may be understood by certain energies, even who are not in that particular kingdom, who may, in fact, be from The Kingdom of Amelius. Thus, it is not for us to give approval or not. It is simply that it does have applicability and it does come from a protected source of the Light.

That answers my question. Thank you.

You could thank Jenjura. He was a very busy little energy form scurrying around that old computer system, that master computer that we have spoken of so often, to find that. Usually, if I am not able to immediately access a frame of reference, it is a very good indication that it comes from one of the other four kingdoms, and therefore, needs further investigation. And since my energies were being committed to this gathering, I was not able to do that, and thus, it was a very good learning experience for Jenjura.

Regarding The Other Four Kingdoms, Can You Give Us Information About Those In Charge?

I cannot remember from reading your readings. You never named the other four kingdoms or what entities are in charge of those kingdoms. Is that information available?

We have not given out that information, nor do we plan to. It is inappropriate, at this time in the illusion. We must qualify that. During this particular old illusion.

Question About About Transitional Kingdoms ~ A Subject Forthcoming

A while ago, you mentioned transitional kingdoms, talking about dolphins and whales. What are they transitional from and to?

That is a very good question. Much insightfulness potential. And, indeed, to give you a very good response would require more time than we have in this session. We are planning to go further into Animal Kingdom discussions in the coming year. We have not yet revealed what our topic for the New Year will be. However, the clue that we would give you is that there will be discussion in depth of, at least, The Animal Kingdom. Kingdoms is an operative word. That is a second clue. We give no more.

When I Talk To Others, I Tend To Question Too Much. Am I Going A Little Bit Too Far Lately?

Sometimes, my love, but then, that is you.

I do not know enough to quit.

It is a learning process that you undertake now in knowing where the fine line is. You have progressed tremendously in a short period of time in knowing when to see the signs of ~ from another that they have shut down, or that you are perhaps imposing. It is an issue that many, many face on the plane, of imposing, when you become so excited about information that you have, and what seems to be good for you, you want to share that with everyone. And just as many of you ~ and, my love, your sense of being imposed upon by organized religion, for example, that it is no different than you would try to push another in your own beliefs. It is the same coin, if you will. And it simply becomes, then, an issue of waiting to be asked, but knowing that being asked is not necessarily coming from the concrete illusion, that an entity can indeed ask at higher levels that connect with higher levels of yourself.

That is what I was thinking with some people.

But, you see, this is the difficulty in knowing, and this is where the meditation always comes in, that you would know Self. And if you mistakenly impose upon another and you realize it after it has occurred, that you learn from that, and you learn the signs that will come to you from Higher Self, the clue that will say "Too close, too close." The fine line. You visualize the fine line, visualize a very thin, thin, thin thread, and picture this, my love, as your way of helping Self see a fine line. You see? Do you understand what we say to you?

Yes, that is what I have been thinking right along. Then I am kind of wondering, maybe I sometimes push a little bit more because I am so ~ Enthusiastic. This is advice for any of you, to be careful of imposing.

A Discussion Of Someone's Dream ~ A Premonition

I had a dream where I met a person, and he was showing me things, and he was very loving, and he had five round red circles on his cheek that he showed me. Does that have any significance, or was it just ~

How long have you been listening to our words, my love? "Does that have any significance?"

No, I mean, what significance?

There you go, you learn to frame the question correctly. Much like meeting someone and asking, "Did we share experiences in another lifetime?" When it should be, "What were those experiences that were shared in another lifetime?"

As we have discussed in our time relating to dreams, that they are an indication of either a past experience or a scenario of a possible future, or some type of symbolism, of course, of a lesson. When we speak with you privately, my love, you would bring up that question, for you will find it enlightening for that which is about to occur, for it is a premonition.
