Topic Of Discussion ~ Earth Plane And The New Illusion, Continued

We continue in our discussion of the Earth Changes and The New Illusion that has begun to present itself. And thus, we would take questions as you would perhaps have been formulating them.

How Is It Determined Where The Land And Water Will Be

Last week, you described some of the earth changes happening. Would you be able to discuss what might be happening with the rest of the world?

Indeed, we are beginning now to give out that type of information. The reason that we do not give a great deal of it as yet is not because we are keeping any secrets and that we do not want you to know. It is that certain areas are still attuning their energy to determine whether it will be land or water. Some geographic areas have reached that point where it is known that they will be either land or water. As geographic areas reach that point of their own decisions, then we are given permission from The Universal Consciousness to give out that information.

What we do now, my love, is to take the specific question, and if we are able to give you that information at this point in time, we will so do that. If we are not able, we will indicate that also. And having placed it on the record will be of value at this point in time for those areas that may not yet have determined their own destiny. So, if you have then a specific area that you would want information about, we would take that question from you.

I was thinking of Europe and areas that I might be more familiar with.

Indeed. What is certainly guaranteed is that the current configuration of land and water will change. Some of the land areas will remain land areas and some of the water areas will remain water areas. However, some of the land areas will become water and some of the water will have land. Those continents as you know them now will have very different appearances. The names in which you know them now will change. You are seeing those changes already occurring in parts of the world where it continues to be a land configuration. Names have changed in preparation for the redesigning of the land and water arenas. It will not be all that much of a surprise when the final shifting occurs, for you will become so accustomed in this time frame now of change that it will just seem quite natural.

You mentioned that some territories basically have not made up their mind whether they want to stay land or turn into water, and that it is agreement among all the different kingdoms in a current territory whether they want to go one or the other. Could you elaborate on this?

Well, it occurs, first of all, at the higher levels of consciousness with all of the energies involved, be it The Human Kingdom or The Animal Kingdom or The Mineral Kingdom, or The Plant Kingdom, any of the kingdoms. All of the kingdoms involved will be in communicative harmony at higher levels. At the conscious level it will simply be played out. At the conscious level there will be no decision making being made. Just as, essentially, you find that in your own lives. At conscious level, if you truly work with your Higher Self, you are not in control at conscious level. It is the Higher Self and the Soul that give the information and provide the scenarios to be played out at the conscious level.

Thus it is that all of the energies involved at higher levels will come to a decision and then set about the events to occur that will bring either the land or the water. Some of those events will occur before the major shifting. Others will occur at the time of The Shift. The decision will be made and it will be placed into the portfolio, shall we say, of configurations at the time of The Shift, at which point The Universal Consciousness will do their realigning based on what has been given to them for decisions.

You can perhaps best understand this by looking within yourself and the ways in which you make decisions that are not implemented immediately, that are for the long term, as you view your own path. This occurs at all of your levels, and can often occur at conscious level in which you know that you have a decision and it has a timeline to it. But, you must wait for other events to occur before a particular event that you have decided upon can take place. And that is essentially what is occurring now as decisions are being made. Oftentimes, you will make the choice of either telling or not telling others what your long-term decision is. And thus it is with the geographic areas on the planet.

Once the decision has been made, they may say that it is all right to tell everyone on the planet. Thus, we take that position that we cannot give out that information until The Universal Consciousness gives us the go ahead, shall we say. If they do not want that information to be given out, then we must abide by that decision also. So, you would place it, then, in that type of frame of reference, my son, within yourself and your own decision making.

Changing Weather Patterns In Relation To Atlantis And Lemuria

In the Edgar Cayce readings, he gave a lot of information on Atlantis at the time of the last shift, and based on that, his interpreters have placed the North Pole during that period around what geographically today is Mozambique. Do you think that is accurate?

Well, what is most interesting in your question, my son, is one very operative word, and that is interpreters. As we have stated so often, information that comes through in its purist form becomes interpreted very quickly either through different languages on the planet or through simply different frames of reference and other types of screening devices, perceptually, that an entity would have, that would then create its own reality within that entity's understanding.

We have been most cautious in giving information of such a specific nature, for there is a flow and an ebbing that occurs in energy. Land masses and water masses move about, and what is important is where they end up at any particular point in time. To determine that a particular land mass is situated specifically in a geographic area, in this situation, to say that the land that housed the illusion of Atlantis is in the water at a particular point means simply that at the time that it was referenced ~ the information was referenced and given out ~ it is quite possible that this where it was, but that it moves now, and at any other point in time, it could be in another spot.

What will be of importance is where it is at the time of The Shifting. We have placed on the record that the land mass known as Atlantis will partially return as a land mass. Where it will return is dependent upon the decisions being made currently by the water and land configurations and as to where it will be able to become land, you see. It needs to position itself harmoniously with the other configurations that are currently being determined. The final layout, if you will, of land and water will not come into being until the actual shifting. There will be movement and there will be decisions made as to what will be land and what will be water, but where that land and water eventually ends up, is still in what we would call the rough draft stage.

There are certain areas of land and water that have very definitely been determined to be where they will be. For example, the land mass that you find yourselves on now is going to continue to be land. As we have indicated, dimensionally, the water that will surround this particular land mass has been determined. However, what we have not given you is how close other land will be to this particular land mass, you see. And that is some that we are not able to give because of the decisions that have yet to be made. Thus, the accuracy of information that comes through is partially determined by the level from which that information has been accessed, as well as the moment in earth plane time that it was accessed, and how it relates then to the flow of energy ~ current, past and future.

Well, the Atlantean situation is already past from our reference point. And if the North Pole was in what present day Mozambique is ~ not at that time, it may have been something else ~ it would have put Atlantis on the Tropics, on the equator, which would have meant they would have a very hot climate. But the interesting thing is that the same time that happened, Lemuria would have been very cold, and how could they have sustained a big population there?

Ah, but you see, your frame of reference for understanding weather patterns in another illusion is based upon your current illusion and the frame of reference that you have for weather patterns. At this time in this illusion, and for the type of information that we have been giving, it is difficult to explain in a way that you would be able to understand the answer to that question. The weather patterns in the illusion of Atlantis were quite different than the weather patterns in this illusion, just as the weather patterns in the next illusion will be very different from the ones in this illusion. The polarity changes are what create those differences. The type of polarity that the planet had during the illusion of Atlantis is such that we could not describe it to you for your frame of reference is not there. You do not have the frame of reference.

In The New Illusion, that type of information would be understood by those who have remained in The New Illusion. You would have the ability to understand, then, the weather patterns and the polarities that created the sustaining of those types of patterns. It is not quite as simplistic as you have brought it out, my son, in terms of North Pole and Tropics and that sort of thing. That comes from your understandings in this illusion, which is appropriate. It is as it needs to be. We have so often indicated that you must deal with the information in your current situation and not focus so much on what has happened. What you need to know from the past will be given to you as you need to know it, and as it applies to your own path and the understandings that you would need to have.

It would be an overload on your circuits if we were to attempt in Public Session to give that type of information and to even begin to attempt to explain it. For now, anyway. It will change as time progresses and the levels of understanding and awareness begin to increase to the point where it would be more easily explained to large numbers of entities. We wait until that moment rather than placing it on the record now, with then so many questions coming that it would then have to be repeated again at a more appropriate time. So, we save the energy of ourselves until that time.

Being Able To Understand And Adjust To Earth Changes Now And After The Shift

I guess I am a little more of a concrete grounded right now. We all know the changes have already started, and they, of course, will be accelerating as we get nearer the time. You said that it will not be a surprise to us, but in my mind, there is going to be some drastic physical changes taking place on the earth plane. Do we just wait, or is there something that we can actually be physically preparing ourselves?

Well, the answer to that, my love, is twofold actually. First of all, you do not need to wait, for it is already happening. You are in the midst of the cleansing and do not even realize it. It is as we have said before. You are experiencing drastic changes around the planet with all of the systems in place ~ the social, the economic, the political, the ecological. These systems are undergoing drastic change ~ massive cleansings, massive dismantling ~ and yet, you adjust as each situation occurs, so that it is not a massive change that occurs.

Each change that is presented is a bit more dramatic than the last one and yet it does not appear to be, for you have adjusted. Any entity who remains on the plane after a particular dramatic event has raised their vibration ever so slightly, but nonetheless, has raised it to be prepared for the next wave that comes through. If you were to look back over time on the plane, perhaps twenty or thirty or forty earth plane years, you would see that the intensity of the cleansing has increased dramatically. Yet, you have accommodated to it, whether it is directly related to yourself or whether it is simply what you hear about around the planet.

Working simultaneously with that, however, is the preparations for the final cleansings. There will be a series of those cleansings that will occur, and they will be of an intensity that you will either be able to work through it or you will not. We are here as part of our mission prior to the final shifting to help prepare entities for the raising of their vibration to a point where they are able to sustain themselves from one wave to the next. As we have indicated, we will be giving some very specific techniques, for the acceleration of the changes accelerates now.

And when the time of the ending of this year on the plane is reached, there will be a dramatic vibrational shaking up that will have most of its impact, initially, in the higher levels of the earth plane and the planet Earth. It will, then, begin to have a residual effect, what you call a fallout effect, on all of the systems of the earth plane and all of the concrete manifestations of systems on the planet. You will be prepared for that. This is what we are here to do, to help you understand and to help you to work through.

I just got a little worried because I envision these huge chunks of land disappearing under water, gradually, and that is a drastic change. It is hard to adjust.

Well, yes. You would go to this country that you are in, and go the Midwest part of this country. As a result of major rainfall, the land that used to be is now under water and will remain that way. While the event was occurring there were concerns, of course, by all those involved and all those who wanted to help as to what was going to happen. Will the water recede? Will there be more water? After the initial shock of the change was worked through, adjustment took place. That is exactly what will happen. Understand the basic premise of your journey outside of The Universal Consciousness, and that is that nothing is presented to you that you cannot handle. If something is presented to you that you cannot handle, it is time to leave. And that is simply what is occurring.

As the cleansing takes place, if you are vibrationally attuned to each of the waves, then you will work through it. You may find yourself vibrationally attuned to several waves, and then a final wave for you occurs in which your own vibration has not prepared itself for that particular type of event. You then say, "This is now the time in this particular life for departure." You then are able to go back into spirit, reevaluate and prepare for your next entrance into the plane when your vibration has been able to be smoothed enough to be part of the earth plane in The New Illusion. That is all that it is.

This geographic area that you find yourselves in now is in its so-called polar climate, when this snow that is common in this geographic area is supposed to be occurring. When you receive very, very large storms and the snow shuts down your life, as you have been living it, several things happen. First of all, you all go to the food store and clean off the shelves for fear that you would go even two days without your favorite foods.

Addictions.

The addictions, indeed. You indeed get very annoyed if the cable system breaks down and you are not able to watch your programs. Yet, there is a combination of a hibernation as well as an exploration that occurs. While you may not temporarily be able to move about, you have enough confidence in your own abilities from the history of survival from other storms, that eventually it will end, this storm, and eventually you will dig yourselves out. Things may have changed, however, as a result of the storm, and, you are able to accommodate to it and adjust.

And that is simply a microcosm of the changes that are occurring in major proportion in some parts of the world. When you hear of earthquakes, you see the way in which entities respond to those earthquakes. Some leave the earth plane and others survive. Some right next to each other, one leaves and another stays. That is all part of the plan, and that accommodations are then made by those who remain ~ the rebuilding.

This is part of the human spirit, the ability to rebuild after destruction, quickly and easily, for The Human Kingdom has been given the ability to, shall we say, bounce back very quickly. The Human Kingdom has been seeded with high level entities for illusion changes so that there will be a continuation of the physical manifestation of an illusion. It is a necessity. It is part of the plan. So, there is no need to fear that there will be destruction without rebuilding. For now, there is destruction of all systems, and at the same time, there is a rebuilding of those systems.

Does that allay any of your fears, my love?

I have a lot to look forward to.

Oh, it is a rather challenging time in any illusion when it is moving from one into the next illusion. It is rather a joyous time, for you see that which has not been working, leaving, and at the same time, you see new ways of doing things coming in. There is, as you have in the season known as spring, the rebirth, You who decide to remain will be part of that rebirth.

A Discussion Of Jesus, Organized Religion, And Materialism

Waith, is Jesus going to pop in for his birthday?

You know, you took us by surprise on that one. We are usually tuned in. That one did take us by surprise. That was very, very good. We will put that on the record book here for almost making us speechless. Not quite, though. 😊 Almost.

Amelius watches at the highest levels, of course, as the earth plane goes into the celebration of that which is considered the time frame of the entry onto the plane. So yes, he watches the birthday. There will be no acknowledgement from his level, however, for there is need now at the time of the illusion for a smoothing out of the issues revolving around organized religion. Each of the organized religions claim to have the truth and fight it out among themselves that they are the way back to the God that they refer to, The Universal Consciousness, as we refer to it, or The Creative Force. However, in an understanding of the time frame on the plane that we find ourselves now vibrationally connected through Mushiba, it is a time to celebrate sharing and caring and giving. The goal is that this type of celebration of caring, sharing and giving would not occur just at one very brief time each earth plane year but that it would be a pattern of life on the plane. Part of the cleansing that is occurring relates to the exaggeration of materialism that exists on the plane that is symbolized at this time frame in the year.

Amelius, however, does send his greetings to all. It would be appropriate at some other time on the earth plane for him to share his energy with a particular session. Thus, we will not focus on this time frame. Rather, we would give support to a concept of sharing, caring and giving in a time frame other than that which has been determined by the earth plane concreteness now, so as to not take away from all who have various beliefs, and not just those who are called Christian.

You must be most careful in spiritual seeking to think that it is Christian. It is of no denomination, as you know it. It is not to be affiliated with any organized religion. Yet, it is important that you bring into your spiritual quest the precepts that you have taken on from an organized religion, if you feel it to be appropriate. Those precepts will also merge into new precepts for The New Illusion. Whether you want to admit it or not, most entities on the plane have been influenced by some precepts from one or more organized religions. And whether you adhere to those organized religions now, is not the point, but those precepts have brought you to where you are now in your spiritual quest. It is important that you do not deny those precepts that have brought you to where you are, as they relate to the growth that you have taken on as a result of them.

You may not adhere to them now. You may not believe them now, but they contributed to who you are now. Anything that has contributed to who you are now should not be denied and should not be dismissed, for in doing so, you deny and dismiss who you are. Cherish who you are. Cherish the differences that exist within each of you, and accept that Amelius was a symbol of caring, sharing and giving, just as other religion founders were ~ Buddha, Mohammed, the list is endless.

We were able to recover from that, you see. 😊

I was actually thinking in a concrete sense. He has come in sometimes and spoken. He pops in.

Indeed. They do like to do that, pop in and out.

Waith, if we could jump a little bit ahead of time, right after The Shift, from the religion point of view, would the remaining souls just believe in one common religion, or would a time occur where, because of the events, people will believe in several Gods, like it used to be ~ God of Sun, God of Thunder, God of Water. And so how will it be evolving after this?

What Will Religion Be Like After The Shift?

The very nature of The Human Kingdom, inherently, does not allow belief in only one system. This is not the way in which the earth plane, and The Human Kingdom specifically, has been set up. However, there is a major difference at the beginning of an illusion versus the end an illusion. At the beginning of an illusion, there are still many, many different beliefs. There are many differences. However, there is a respect for each other, a respect that is Universal. There may not be the same belief, but there is no fighting about that belief. There is no threat that what you believe, being different from what another believes, would create disharmony. Indeed it creates a sense of unity. This is only at the beginning of an illusion.

By the time the illusion is ready to change, as is the case now, all of those differences have become exaggerated. There is the fighting, and the threats to belief systems, and the holding onto the idea that what you believe is the only truth. At the beginning of an illusion, there is the awareness that there are many truths, and that that is all right. Indeed, that is the way it needs to be. As an illusion begins to work its way through, that harmony begins slowly to become out of balance. This is the way in which illusions are set up. It is not a new activity. This is simply the way it is, so that the beginning and the end of an illusion are exact opposites. They are the exact extremes of each other. That is the way it needs to be.

So now, you are at the end of an illusion. You are in the concrete form, and thus, you are experiencing the extremes of disharmony. If you decide to remain and are able to remain into The New Illusion, it will be as if you have flipflopped. Just as the polarities change, so too will awarenesses. For many on the plane now, it is difficult to understand that concept of their being complete harmony and complete difference and being able to live within that difference arena in complete harmony, you see.

So yes, there will be religions. There will be remnants of religions that currently are on the plane that will remain. That which needs to be cleaned out from those religions will be cleaned out ~ philosophically, emotionally, spiritually, mentally, physically. In its place, where the void is, will be brought in then a different understanding, a different spiritual precept that will seed the religions that begin The New Illusion, just as it has been in each new illusion.

And periodically, during the illusion, there will be the seeding of another religion, just as Amelius did in several incarnations, the seeding. As an illusion moves along, it needs to have, shall we say, a jumpstart in getting the imbalance going, you see, for imbalance is the way of the earth plane, and except for the beginning of an illusion, there cannot be complete balance. There must always be an imbalance. That is the only way in which lessons are learned. You see, it is a game. It is a teeter totter. It is a toy. What kind of imbalance are we going to have today, you see.

So, we have spoken in the past of the importance of organized religion to the progression of individuals' paths, and the importance of organized religion in an illusion. It is that very arena that brings about the greatest opportunities for issues of Judgement, Unconditional Love, Tolerance, Patience ~ all of the major biggies, you see. So you have some interesting things to look forward to in The New Illusion.

If we make it.

Well, that is your decision. There will be a significant number who will be the seeds for The New Illusion.

The Call To Be Of Service During Mass Departures, And Will There Be A Memory Of It?

Was that time reference that you made a little while ago about the end of the year, a major change, is that the end of this year which is going to end in eleven days?

Yes, indeed. The energy has already aligned itself. It does this at the end of each year and has been in this geographic area for quite some time now as it prepares for additional information and energy exchange from its pyramid component. You will feel during this time frame, at times, a tightening of your energy, and then very quickly, a loosening of your energies. It is also a time on the earth plane that mass departures occur ~ avoiding the rush, as we like to say, for The Shifting. Many of you who have agreed, of course, to help at the portal when there are mass departures will be called upon. Just when you are out there shopping, the call will come in. You know, you say you want to Be of Service, so we test how much do you want to Be of Service.

If you begin to feel very fatigued in a way that comes on you suddenly, it is generally that you are being asked to come to the portal. Your response, of course, is up to you whether you would go and lay down and take a little nap, as you call it, and go into an altered state and quickly go and do your work, or whether you say to the call, "No, not this time." And you fight the fatigue and you go about doing your business.

Also, of course, coinciding with the end of a physical year on the plane is the change in seasons. This particular change that is upon you now is also a significant energy exchange in this particular time frame. It is coinciding this year with significant physical earth types of changes. You will be aware of some rather dramatic earth events during this coming few days, as you call it, on the plane.

When we have answered the call to help at the portal by going into the sleep state, can we remember what we have done?

Sometimes. It goes back, of course, to that issue of what is that you really need to know and how much of an overload would it present to you. If it is something that you need to remember that will help you in your own path consciously, then you would remember it. However, if you do not need to have it at a conscious level, you will not. It will, however, be stored in your soul, for whatever you do in service to The Universe is stored in your soul as a memory. Even though you may not have recall at conscious level, it is in your soul, and in many cases even in your Higher Self, so that through meditation you could gain access to what occurred.

You said that in The New Illusion that many of us may find ourselves living in the water. Does that mean that we would develop new physical structures for that?

Yes and no. That is a topic for another time. You would perhaps bring that up at the beginning of a session so that we would devote more time to that for we have been given our time warning. It is a most interesting topic that we will be exploring of course, the changes in the physical. As we are allowed to give that information, as it becomes appropriate on the plane for that information to be heard, then we will joyfully give you that so that you can begin to perhaps draw a picture of what you think you might look like.

Can You Give Us More Specifics On What To Expect For Earth Changes In The New Year?

What you would want to do is attune yourself to the way in which you are feeling physically, for energy is moving about you now and in a way that is in the new polarity. The planet has done a bit of a movement that has done what you call shaking up of energy. There are periods of energy flow in time now on the plane in which it moves from East to West rather than North to South. The results of that will be ~ we are most cautious in giving too specific a response here ~ a significant realignment of the physical earth in a particular part of the world. It has the potential for being known by large numbers of entities.

Much of the activity that occurs when the polarities move from East to West, as least now on the plane, occurs beneath the planet, in preparation for it then moving into a way that you feel the ripple effect. That could be days, weeks, months and in some cases years, from its moment of impact. However, the time frames are much shorter now because of the final stages. So, you will feel ripple effects of this polarity shifting soon. When we say soon, you must remember that because of the overlapping of energy now, everything seems to be together from our perspective. The waves overlap, so that soon, to us, is now that it is happening. Soon could be tomorrow on the plane or soon could be two months from now.

So, remember, if you want to keep track of this, that something is occurring now with East to West polarities that will have an eventual impact that will be seen by those on the plane. It could be very, very soon or it could be several months from now. But you will feel yourselves ~ if you tune into your own vibration and your own energy ~ The Shifting of the polarities, you see.

Oh, there is so much more to talk about. This is just not even scratching the surface, shall we say. We have been, as you know, given the green light, if you will, to give much more information beginning in the new year. Thus, we will be much more specific in certain situations. In our public gatherings now, we will find ourselves perhaps discussing one major topic relating to the Earth Changes, such as what the physical encasements will look like and how accommodations to water will be handled.

With that we must prepare now to depart. As we do depart, we ask you all now to gather in your energies of love of Self and bring them now into that which is the Heart Center, and feel the energy of love of Self filling the Heart Energy Center. And now feel it filling the encasement, slowly moving throughout the encasement. Slowly now, allow the energy of love of Self to move out of the encasement and into the gathering, touching each other with the energy of love of Self and becoming one. And as we depart, begin to slowly move about, and hug each other, and feel the love of Self merging with each other, and feel the unity of the energies in this gathering. We send to you all now the very Highest of the White Light from the very Highest of the Kingdom of Amelius. Farewell.
